Camacho Urges Counties to Secure More Jobs, Funds

Speaking before a group of campaign colunteers, Julian Camacho, Democratic candidate for Congress, discussed 'basic duty' of the Central Coast Counties insecuring additional Emergency Employemtn funds.

Camacho informed his audience that "Last Friday, the United States Department of Labor announced that those California Counties able to show an unemployment rate in excess of 7 percent, would be able to receive additional Emergency Employment, Funds."

Camacho stated that "it is known to many people that the unemployment rate in Santa Cruz, Monterey, San Benito and Kings Countys is far above that 7 percent minimum. I have heard that in Santa Cruz County, unemploument might be as high as 20 percent."

Camacho stated that "up until today, I know of no efforts taken on the part of these Counties to provide the Department of Labor with the essential data."

"It is the basic duty of the County Administrators to insure that these funds are both applied for and then wisely used, "Camacho added. "When these funds become available for new jobs, the Counties should hire as many women and men as possible and as soon as possible."

"Additionally, it is the duty of the County Board of Supervisors to insure that the jobs created be dispersed equally among women and men, regardless of race, color or creed. The creation of new federally-funded jobs is essential the economic wellbeing of this district," Camacho continued.

Camacho concluded his remarks by stating that "The Counties have a perfect opportunity to act in the name of the people. The unemployment problems of this district demand those additional funds. The burden of proof and responsibility must be taken by the County Governments."

Haddad Won't Run Again

"I want to devote more time to my family," said Seaside Mayor Louis N. Haddad, who announced that he does not intend to run for re-election in the April 1972 municipal election.

In a prepared statement, Haddad said that he had decided not to seek re-election, but would be available for community service. He remarked that he would step aside to permit new ideas and fresh thoughts to carry our or implement the programs currently on the drawing boards."

Haddad had been mayor of Seaside since 1966 and a member of the city council since 1964 and said that he had made many friends and gained meaningful experience through his service to the community.

"This was well worth any amount of personal, family or financial inconveniences I may have wxperienced," he said.

In 1969, Haddad made a similar statement when he announced he would not seek re-election in a speech before the Seaside Chamber of Commerce where he called for "understanding and brotherhood among all citizens."

In his statement about racial harmony Haddad said," it is a struggle we must win, for there is no other road. To this, he drew a standing ovation.

In his more recent statement Haddad said his change of mind two years ago was because he had never been able to leave a job undone. "I feel that many of the goals I set for Seaside will have been accomplished on the funds available."

Test Dates Announced

The U.S. Civil Service Commission has announced three test dates for 1972 summer jobs in Federal agencies.

Candidates whose applications were received by December 3, 1971 will be tested on January 8, 1972: those whose applications are received by January 7 will be tested February 12 and those whose applications are received by February 2 will be tested March 11. Applications postmarked after February 2 will not be accepted.

Complete instructions for filing and information on opportunities available, are contained in CSC Announcement No. 414, Summer Jobs in Federal Agencies, which may be obtained from any area office of the Commission, many major post offices, most college placement offices or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C. 20415.

The Forest Service will fill positions as Forestry Aids, Fire Control Aids, Lookouts, Range Aids, Recreation Aids and Biological Aids from Announcement Number 414.

Applicants rated eligible in 1971 need not take the written test again unles they wish to improve their scores. By December 1 these eligibles will be sent a special form to update their qualifications and indicate their availability for employment in 1972.

The Commission urged canddates to apply early for maximum consideration and emphasized that the number of jobs available through the nationwide test will be extremely small in proportion to the number of competitors. Last year, 157,485 persons were tested and only 12,600 were appointed through the nationwide CSC exam.

In addition to providing details about the types of jobs that will be filled through the nationwide test, Announcement 414 contains information on other summer jobs that will be filled through merit procedures administered by individual Federal agencies. Last year, more than 22,000 jobs were filled through such procedures.

Candlelight Cermony Is Scheduled

Help Us Help Them, the monterey Peninsula POW-MIA committee, is sponsoring a Christmas "Candle of Hope" lighting ceremony as a tribute to our prisoners of war and men missing in action who cannot be at home with their families this Christmas. At a special ceremony December 15 at 7 p.m. symbolic "Candle of Hope" will be lighted by the families of Peninsula POW-MIAs. They will be joined by the mayors of the Peninsula, Jerry Winters and Sioux Scott, and a local choir who will app participate in the program and will light individual "Candles of Hope."

The ceremony will be held at the fountain in Del Monte Center. Candles will be provided, and all citizens are urged to come and participate in lighting a "Candle of Hope."

In addition, it is hoped that all families will light a "Candle of Hope" in the windows of their homes and businesses and keep it burning throughout the Christmas season in remembrance of all POW-MIA's and as a display of hope for world peace.

Students Build Own Miniature Seaside

Seaside residents might be amazed to learn that a skyborne rapid transit system exists right under their noses. It even stops at a well-known hamburger stand.

Trouble is, you have to be tiny to ride it. Well, to be more truthful, a good deal of imagination is required. The kind of imagination that darts and leaps in the minds of second and third graders.

Driven by electric motors, the suspended blimp-like rapid transit vehicle skims over a colorful, miniature City of Seaside that can be found in Room 2 at Covell School, on the corner of Contra Costa and Elm Streets. That s where teacher Rosemary Poskus has found a way to make social studies come alive.

That's also where Seasides Mayor Louis Haddad was one day last week. Mrs. Poskus asked the mayor to visit her classroom to view the project and learn what the children would do if they ran the city. While the classroom has elected its own mayor and city council for the miniature version of Seaside, Mayor Haddad was given the opportunity to explain just what a real mayor s job involves.

Actually, the students have already had exposure to city government. Since beginning their miniature city project in October, they've taken two bus tours of Seaside and one of them included a two-hour visit to city hall.

Back in the classroom, huddled around their small, cardboard buildings, the students tackled their city and its problems in earnest. What does a city need? Stores? Of Course. Houses? Yes. Banks? Churches? Streets? A Hospital? All of these things, painted in the bright colors of childhood, soon appeared.

Then cars were introduced. Everybody had a car. But then the class decided that there were too many cars. However, nobody would volunteer to give his car up. The class finally resolved the situation by doing away with some of the streets and by installing their rapid transit system.

It was discovered that no one had built a gas station. Once built, they had to decide where to put it. At the same time, the students noticed they had placed stores among houses, businesses next to hospitals. Had they seen that sort of thing on their bus tours? Thus, the students were welcomed to the world of zoning.

As the city evolved in their classroom, so did its government. A mayor and council were elected, complete with speeches, nominations and balloting.

Mrs. Poskus hopes the students won't just come away knowing a bit more about their city and the problems it faces. Or even just having gained some knowledge about democracy and how it works. She hopes, too, that the students will leave the classroom caring about their community and taking pride in it. After all, its their home.

And so the city of Seaside evolves--both inside and outside Room 2 at Covell School Who's to say where on stops and the other begins?

YAFA Takes On Economic Program

BY MELVIN MASON

Young Adults For Action is currently engaged in a full-scale effort to bridge the chasm that exist between the condition of poverty in our community and the material goods and items that make a community truly livable.

In the times of economic stress-such as the times we live in today-society in its aggregate itself in the hands of econometricians who experiment with theories ranging anywhere from "Misesion Theories of Trade Cycles" to even "Keynesian economics" However the current condition of the minority and poor white communities can only infer zhat traditional theories have been incapable of changing the lot of those who are, perennially, on the bottom of this country's socia-economic totem pale.

We are constantly told that this country is in a state of recession. To the Black and Poor White of this Country, this is not a noval condition our communities have always been in a recession. We are constantly deprived of nearly everything that constitutes a well balanced community - that we have began to strive to help rectify this situation. We at YAFA believe that only through programs built around the principles of self sufficiency and self-development will our communities begin to truly progress toward prosperity.

The project with which we are currently envolved entailes the establishment of a small iorn worker manufacturing plant here in Seaside. Already we have a commitment from Western Electric Company, Inc. of Sunnyvell to purchase $15,000 dollars of Earth - quake bracing from our plant for the first Year. We are also soliciting commitments from similar firms so that we might expand our market.

The one main problem we are having is in finding a building with which to house this plant. We are hoping to generate community support so that this problem might be solved. All of the equipment, Business acumer, and expertise have been freely donated to us so that the only hindance to our operation lies in our unseccess in locating a building.

Any help that the community can give us in this area will greatly be apperciated we at YAFA believe it to be axiomatic that the balstering of the living conditions of any economically distresed area can only be accomplished economic self sufficiency. In short we must immediatly begin to nourish, within our community, all the conditions necessary for economic growth. We need to create various types of industry for a new and growing industry means more jobs, more money and as a result a more sound and stable community also, if we extacpolate our economic development program out into the near future, we can easily visulize the solving of yet another problem of the "Brain Drain" that is the systematic syphoning off of the educated and talented people in our communities who through lack of local economic opportunities, are forced to move to other, more metropolitian area.

We at YAFA believe that the opportunities resulting from our economic development program will provide strong incetive for our educated and talented men and women to remain here and help our community to grow and progress. It is a fact that our community will not continue to grow and survive without the talents these indivuals possess. As previously stated all of our projects will run cycial around a basic of self-sufficiency. We feel that more jobs and a higher payroll are the only logical and realistic solution to the problems caused by the negelect, misuse, and systamatic usmpation of the resources both material and human of our communities. We at YAFA feel that economic self-sufficeincy offers minority people and poor people their only hope in attianing of a human condition in our current soci-economic enviornment. It is the only way that we can bring stability to an area that has been beset by it's historiciall economic viassitudes and to successfully abrogste this negative condition in our community forever.

Seaside Ripples

A. E. 'Andy' Barragan, Publisher

A.E. Barragan

This weekend I had one of the most pleasant, peaceful experiences of my entire life. My wife Jeannie and I went up to the Sierras to visit an old friend of mine who lives in Mariposa, which is right at the gate to Yosemite National Park and only about a three hour drive from here. It had snowed sometime early in the afternoon and the roads up were exceptionally slippers, but I managed to make it without sliding off of the road. Now you have to understand why this is such a wonderful feat for me. I have lived in California for over 50 years and unless you drive up to the moutains every winter and are used to the snow, you just don't know how to handle an automobile on those slippery roads. Jeannie was born and raised in Denver, so she knows about snow and ice. With her expert instructions from the co-pilot seat, we made it.

The pleasant experience I mentioned at the start of this column came about while we were sitting around the dining room table in Ed and Ellie's nice warm cabin talking over old times (Ed is an old newspaper buddy from way back in L.A.). All of a sudden, I had a terrific feeling that I should go outside. Everything had turned real quiet and there was nothing but silence. There was no breeze, no rustling of leaves, no barking of dogs, no honking of geese, no sound at all. This began to get to me although I didn't know what was happening. All I could feel was that terrific urge to go outside and look.

I did and sure enough it was snowing. Millions

Grooving Around the Peninsula

with BETTY MANN

Happy Holidays, Fellow Peninsulans,

There are only nine more days until Christmas. Beautiful people around the peninsula include: Mayor Al Madden of Monterey because of his broad sense of humor, huh, Al! A couple of weeks ago, I received a whimsical note from Monterey's delightful Mayor on an article I wrote about the controversy and furor that was being made about the beautiful, brown (Spanish) angels that adorn the streets of Monterey at Christmas time. Al stated in this note that he, like yours truly, would like to believe also that angels in heaven were in the likeness of every race here on earth and that if he happens to see a lily white angel with golden wings he will call me collect!! ("I think Al is working toward getting to heaven.") Right On, Al! I hope I meet you and a lot of other nice people I know up yonder! (smile)

Other beautiful people around the peninsula who rate recognition in this category: Attorney Jane Van Hook, beautiful as a Legal Aid Attorney for the low income, beautiful as a wife and mother and beautiful as a person and friend. Christola and Tyrie Howard, who are two of the kindess people around today. Attorney Roderick Dewar and his charming wife Sue, who are beautiful in the respect of being warm, realistic and understanding human beings. Connie Turqueza, who's beautiful in so many ways. Connie is an officer in the Fil-American Club and a hard working member of the Parade of Nations. She possesses one of the prettiest smiles on the peninsula. Matthew and Vivian Downing are beautiful "true grits." Fredrica Evans, who is the prettiest and most talented seamstress here on the peninsula (she's been keeping me and other clientele well groomed for years.) Andy Barrigan, my boss, who's the nicest "white man" I've ever known. (smile)

(Watch this column to see if your favorite person or persons makes the "beautiful people around the peninsula list." We invite you to send in names of people whom you consider to be beautiful and the reasons why they rate this title.)

Happenings around the peninsula in the past few weeks included the Legal Aid Society's gala afternoon of "Tea, Bridge, Whist, and Fashions Benefit," which was a huge success. Held at the Highlands Inn, the guests enjoyed an afternoon of fashions and the delicious hors d'oeveres and petit fors that were an example of the excellent cuisine the Highlands Inn's gourmet staff prepared. Door prizes, which were donated by local stores were won by Mmes. Sarah Jackson, Ophelia Raymond, Bessie Gooch and myself, among others. Attorney Miller was the only gentleman winning a door prize. Prizes for high card game went to card partners Mrs. Mary Ellen Harris and Maurice W. Mann. Mrs. Van Hook thanked all of the guests and persons who contributed to this benefit affair.

All funds will be utilized to continue the free services of the Monterey County Legal Aid Society to low income persons.

The members of the Monterey Peninsula Cotillion League, presented a pre-holiday evening of fashions and dancing on December 5 at the Main NCO Club. Over 500 persons attended this glittering and gala event. Fashions featuring the latest in women's and men's fashions were presented. Fashions were from the models' own wardrobes, as well as from the Buccaneer Shop, Carmel and Royal Furs, Salinas. Students of Fredricas Sewing Class, which is a segment of Fredricas Fashions and Designing Studio, modeled their own creations. Fashions ranged from hot pants, evening gowns and hostess gowns for the holidays, to sport and tailored togs for the year round.

Fashion commentators were Mrs. Mary Ellen Harris and myself. The models were: Verna Sloan, Ophelia Raymond, Marie Sweet, Grace Delaney, Rose Oates, Delores Hebert, Dorothy Vaughn, Martha Dwan, Dorothy Smart, Vickie Gallagher, Ruthie Watts, Roderick and Sue Dewar, Dale Liseth, Dee Dee Smith, Betty Sapp, Vickie Warrent, Kevin Parker, Pam Hilton, Barbara Joyce, Debbie Suber, Demetria Hunter, Maxine Kraft, Otis Stevenson and Orlando Bonner. Special guest models from the Fil-American Club were Connie Turqueza, Lillie Bisue and Dionie Soriano.

CLASSIC INGREDIENT

Beer is a classic ingredient in meat cookery. Used in place of water as the simmering liquid, it brings out all the richness of mean and vegetables. The alcohol evaporates in the cooking, leaving only the delicate flavors behind to intrigue the diner.

Information On Rents Is Available

Interpretations on rent regulations were the most frequently asked questions at IRS Information Centers during the first week of the current economic control period, according to Mr. R. F. Harless, District Director of the Internal Revenue Service for Northern California.

Harless explained that basically the rent guidelines have not changed since the initial 90-day freeze period. Rents are generally still frozen. However, several exemptions from the rent freeze have been granted by the Price Commission. They include commercial, industrial, farm and non-residential commercial property which is used for business, manufacturing or similar purposes. Also exempted are those rental units, including residential houses and apartments, upon which construction was completed after August 15, 1971.

Rent exemptions have also been granted to "substantially" rehabilitated rental dwellings. This means that the cost of repair must equal or exceed one-third of the total value of the property. However, this is limited to property offered for rent for the first time after August 15, 1971.

Another exemption from the basic freeze guidelines concerns what is commonly called the "10 percent rule." This means that if at least 10 percent of the landlord's apartments similar to yours were being rented for a higher price during the period from July 16 to August 14, your landlord may raise your rent to that level if your lease permits the increase.

Landlords should remember that increase in rent above the permitted base price are prohibited unless provisions of the ten percent rule or rehabilitation rule are met or a change in guidelines is recommended by the Rent Committee and approved by the Price Commission.

Freeze regulations require landlords to keep certain records. These records must show the base price for the unit--generally meaning the dollar amount charged for at least ten percent of the units during the freeze base period --and the reason for any difference between the base price and the maximum price the landlord was allowed to charge during the freeze. Landlords are required to make such records available at the request of any tenant, prospective tenant or an agent of the Internal Revenue Service.

Questions on the current period of economic control can be answered by calling their nearest office of the Internal Revenue Service.

Local Doctor Re-Elected

William E. Forestelle, MD, of Seaside, has been re-elected to active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians, the antional association of family doctors. The Academy formerly was called the American Academy of General Practice.

Re-election signifies that the physician has successfully completed 150 hours of accredited postgraduate medical study in the last three years. Members become eligible for re-election at the end of the third year following their election to membership.

The Academy, the country's second largest national medical association, is the only national medical group that requires members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

The Academy, founded in 1947 and headquartered in Kansas City, Missouri was instrumental in the establishment of a new primary medical specialty in family practice in 1969. The new specialty is expected to increase the numbers of family physicians available to serve the public in the future.

SF Was Their Classroom

San Francisco's famous zoo and aquarium were turned into classrooms for nearly 60 Highland School sixth-graders recently.

The students, accompained by intern teachers Charles Vaughn and Tony Panganiban, took a one-day bus trip, armed with their lunces and research on what they would see

Charles Vaughn and Tony Panganiban, the two intern teachers who accompanied the students, explained that the trip was designed to accomplish a number of things.

Basic to it was an attempt to get students "beyond the books," they said. The trip provided a means to give students actual experience through first-hand observation. Still, the journey itself was only the highpoint in activities that preceeded and followed it. The students spent several weeks doing library research on animal behavioral patterns and studying San Francisco history and urban problems in advance. Following the excursion came written reports and class discussion on what they had viewed.

Library research focused on the behavior of animal and sea life. Students sought information on specimens they would be observing first-hand. They knew in advance what they would be viewing at the zoo and at the aquarium and were able to relate what they had learned through research with actual observation.

Before making the trip, students discussed with their teachers how they could best represent Highland School in another city, drawing up their own rules for conduct in the process.

In short, the two intern teachers dovetailed basic social studies, science, language arts and library skills into the one-day visit, adding a measure of what might be termed human relations.

The trip was financed with federal funds provided under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

of these tiny snowflakes were shimmering in the light from the porch. But the most impressive thing to me was the silence with which the snow falls. I have been used to rain and hail which make a loud, but pleasant, sound on the roof. Snow is something else. The other three razzed me because I was so impressed with the snow. They didn't realize because they are from New York, Holland and Colorado that many of us Californians have never seen snow on the ground, let alone be there when it snowed.

The next morning when I awoke I was in for another most pleasant experience. The vista outside the kitchen window was one of a winter wonderland. All the world was covered with snow, white and beautiful and, most of all, quiet. I got to thinking how lucky we are to live in such a wonderful state where you can go from the seashore to the snow in three hours or from water skiing (if you can stand the cold water) to snow skiing.

I was able to hold on to this peaceful reverie until I arrived back here in Seaside and picked up the newspaper for the day. There, in bold headlines, were the words, "Nixon Vetoes Child Care Bill." Both the House of Representatives and the Senate had passed the bill by a large margin and sent it on to the President who had said in advance that he would veto the bill because "it cost too much money." Giving child care and legal aid to the less fortunate "costs too much," yet the entire program for a whole year would probably have cost less than one month of expenses in Vietnam.

I have never understood the opposition from many so-called conservatives to the Child Care Program. I remember when the issue was first raised in California over 30 years ago. There was a major political fight over whether the State should provide child care centers for working mothers. It took many years of hard struggle by the proponents to get even one child care center established. Later on, the legislature started putting the, in the budget on a regular basis, but even to this day there is always budget opposition to providing money for child care centers.

I have never understood this because if a mother can leave her children under expert supervision she is available for work on a regular basis. I would think that this would help businessmen. I know as a businessman that most of the absenteeism from working mothers comes when they are not able to obtain baby sitters or when their children are sick and there is no one to take care of them. Even beyond that, educators have proven that those children who have the opportunity to attend any pre-school activity such as nursery school or who participate in the "Head Start" program are further advanced in their education when they start in the kindergarten and have a better chance of learning. With the early training that that child gets, he is better able to advance, and in the long run, is a saving to the taxpayer by eliminating any special education problems which may develop. Child care centers could mean less drop-outs, less juvenile delinquency and, better adjusted children.

Why it is that we begrudge those dollars when it comes to something which will help the poor and are so generous when it will help the rich. As I said earlier, it doesn't make sense to me inasmuch as all of the money that the poor spend is used in our system to buy the necessities of life which are manufactured and are sold at a profit by some of these same conservatives who so vehemenently oppose child care centers.

I know that if enough of the general public understood the processes of legislation they would be able to convince their congressmen of the merit of having adequate child care centers. We think that their value in human terms far exceeds the cost in dollar terms.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR: What has happened to the democracy which was established in America years ago? Everyone has done their share to make it a way of life which has gone down in history. This is true democracy.

Now we read in the newspaper about the people who made a million dollars or more and do not pay their share of taxes. Large companies make millions of dollars and pay no tax.

The working men and women, these are the people who pay the taxes. They don't make a million dollars.

Now if the state of California would drop the state income tax, property tax, inventory tax, sales tax, inherantence tax, corporation tax, bank tax, and many other taxes and adopt a 1 percent trans-action tax with no exemptions, this would be a fair tax. Everyone would pay according to his or her ability. Then you could read in the papers about the people who made a million dollars or more and paid their one percent tax the same as the millions of people who received one dollar or more.

This tax would be fair tax and would be a start to regain a state of true democracy in this great state.

This tax would be simple to collect, and would be paid to the County Treasurer every month.

In the old days everyone was proud to do his or her fair share. Let us pray that we can return to this good way of life.

A 1 percent trans-action tax would raise approximately twenty-five to forty billion dollars a year in California. The state, counties and cities would have enough money to build more schools, roads, hospitals, and many other projects that are needed in this Great State of California.

As I See It

By Mel Vercoe

The comic pages are running in second place these days for amusements prizes. The front pages sometimes just can't be beaten.

A few days ago, a fellow in prison made good his escape from prison by hiding in the engine compartment of a delivery truck, but his freedom didn't last long. When the truck stopped he opened the hood and got out and discovered that the truck had stopped to make a delivery inside the walls of another prison. That is about the kind of luck I would probably have if I took up a life of crime. I can just see myself running out of a bank with an armload of loot, and then falling in front of a police paddy wagon after tripping over the curb.

Then there was the delightful news story from Seattle about Seattle's sister city in Japan, Kobe, sending a food shipment to Seattle to help feed our unemployed who have been denied surplus food by our Agriculture Department.

And from Saigon comes a news item about the poor mini-skirted bar girls who are finding themselves without income as the American troops pull out of Vietnam. It seems that they now occupy their time sitting around knitting baby clothes.

William Randolph Hearst, Jr., one of America's most misguided informed citizens, is having a ball thest days. In his most recent column he compares America's unpreparedness at Pearl Harbor with our war stance today, which is acceptable logically until you peel off a couple layers and examine the real issues. It is true, of course, as he suggests, that the Russians are at least even with us in nuclear capability and unless we go all out they will soon be ahead of us, assuming of course that our Administration has been telling us the truth and nothing but the truth, which is highly questionable.

As related to American security, there is a little more involved than sheer volume of nuclear explosives and delivery capability. First, once a nation has enough or more than enough ability to completely wipe out by either first or second strike any forseeable enemy, then it is a complete waste to spend tax money building "overkill" capabilities. Yet, this is what we are doing at this time, not because it would furnish us any additional security, but because there is a lot of money to be made in it, and a lot of re-election campaign funding depends upon continuing this waste.

Second, when we take U.S. Treasury funds and waste them, then we necessarily have to short other programs, because we simply do not have enough left to go around. When communism comes to America, it will not, as I have said many times, come across the ocean in boats, and it won't come through the skies on missiles. Communism will be born right here in our ghettos and in high unemployment areas like Seattle where those who are on the lower end of our caste system will eventually start looking around for something that looks better to them than a system that openly denies the needs of our hungry and unemployed while just as openly favoring big business and corporate profits.

The tragedy is that highly influential men like W.R. Hearst, Jr., who make a big pretense of being patriotic to America, are actually more patriotic to an obsession, and in their blindness stand in the way of reforms that might mean survival for America in a hostile, rapidly changing world.

Let us help you. We listen. 24 hrs. We CARE, We're Free. Suicide Prevention Center 373-0713.

THE PHONE BOOTH

All of us at the pacific telephone company, on the Monterey Peninsula, would like to wish you and your family the very best this holiday season. It's been our privilege to erve you during 1971. Our New Year's resolution this year is to continue improving your telephone service during 1972 and each succeeding year.

Again, our best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a prosperous, rewarding New Year.

During the Christmas and New Year's weekends we expect a record number of people to send their greetings by long distance phone calls. If you're one of them, remember, we'll make every effort to complete your calls quickly, but some calls to some points may be delayed.

Here are some tips to help speed your calls through on these weekends:

. . . Know the Area Code and the number before you call. (Most Area Codes are found in the front pages of your phone book.)

. . . Dial direct. It's faster and cheaper to dial station-to-station calls without Operator assistance.

. . . Your call has the best chance of getting through during the lighter calling periods—usually the afternoon or late at night.

. . . If you get a busy signal, please hang up and try again in a few minutes.

DRAWING

The Les Grand Coeurs' Annual Thanksgiving Basket Drawing with tom turkey and all the trimmings was held during a cocktail sip on Sunday, November 21. Winners this year were JoAnne Price of Seaside and Dorothy Loveless of Salinas.

The organization held a close installation of new officers in October. Installed as president for the club year was Dolores Walker of Seaside. Assisting her are Janie Williams, vice president; Therressia White, recording secretary; Martha DeVan, treasurer; Clara Johnson, sergeant-at-arms; Billie Williams, historian, all of Seaside; Jane Van Hook, business manager and Suzette Bailey, financial secretary and publicity chairman, both of Monterey.

MERRY MONTH IN THE HIGHLANDS

Highlands Inn, Carmel-By-The-Sea, overlooking the Pacific coastline, commenced their annual Merry Month in the Highlands, Friday evening, December 10, at 8 p.m. A capacity crowd attended the Scottish Christmas Tree Celebration, which is the first celebration of the "daft days," honoring the Scottish Christmas Tree.

A warm welcome was given by Mrs. Patricia Ramsey. In the program was Mrs. Nancy Ballard, who played the strings of the harp. Several Christmas carols were sung by the tiny carolers of the Church of The Wayfarer of Carmel, under the direction of Mrs. Ann Welchner. The Scottish Country Dance Group of the Scottish Society of the Monterey Peninsula, performed Scottish country dances.

Warmed by the great open fire, the unique scottish Christmas Tree Celebration was an evening of good ol' fun, spiced with eggnog, spirited with Christmas Carols and traditional sounds from the pipes of the regimental Highlanders and St. Nicholas in the persons of Bill Paterson, Richard Boyd and John McPhee. Tiny carolers paraded through the floral scented pathways encircling the Inn and hillside cottages, as their familiar carols heralded the beginning of the wonderful Merry Month at the brink of the Yule season.

Returning to the Inn, the youthful carolers entertained around the Scottish Christmas Trees, until it was time to hear the ancient legen of St. Wildred's felling of the Holy Tree. According to custom, each guest brought an ornament, decoration, or gift for the tree. Some were handmade, some very old and some new, but as you place it on the Scottish tree to share your Christmas wish with all, the tree is laden with meaningful and beautiful thoughts during a warm and impressive Wishing Ceremony. But, without a goodly wish, the mystic trees will not bear the figt and so each year they become fuller and brighter with figts meaningfully placed upon the evergreen boughs. According to the legend, their youngest fir tree will stand this year by two elder trees, whose mature wisdom is yet to be shared by a forth tree.

The Merry Month in The Highlands' calendar continues to the New Year. Laying of The Annual Yule Log will be Friday, December 24 at 9 p.m. Their traditional Christmas Dinner will be served on December 25.

CHRISTMAS LUNCHEON

"Christmas is For Children" was the theme of the annual Christmas luncheon of the civilian employees of the Army Combat Developments Experimentation Command which is headquartered at Fort Ord. Along with their happy holidays get-together on Wednesday, December 8, at the Fort Ord Officers Club, they collected toys to be given to needy children, come Christmas.

The luncheon was arranged by Mrs. William Warner of Salinas and Mrs. Virgil Learned of Carmel who are secretaries in the CDEC Headquarters; Mrs. Rod Hayes of Salinas of the office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Administration and Logistics; Mrs. James Francis of Monterey and Mrs. Glynn Ansbro of Marina, DCS, Instrumentation and Mrs. William Shea of Seaside, DCS Plans and Programs.

Distribution of the toys collected by the group will be made by the Salvation Army.

Approximately 50 were present.

Apply For CHP Now

California Highway Patrol Commissioner Harold W. Sullivan announced that the test for State Traffic Officer will be held on January 22, 1972 and applications to take the test must be filed by December 24.

"The job of a California Highway Patrolman is one with variety which offers a challenge to young men interested in using their abilities to the fullest," Sullivan said, "and to give more men the opportunity to serve with the patrol we have lowered the height requirements.

"Applicants now may be between five fee eight and six feet six. The previous minimum height was five feet nine The applicant must also be between 20 and 31 years of age, in good physical condition and have the equivalent of high school education."

There will be both a written and oral examination; however, in contrast to previous tests when both written and oral exams counted in final placement on the eligible list, this written exam is on a pass/fail basic and the oral examination will determine the man's place on the eligible list. The written test must be passed before a candidate can take the oral examination.

The oral examination will be conducted by a panel which will determine, among other things, the applicant's personal traits and fitness, his ability to get along with others and whether he has a satisfactory record as a law-abiding citizen. In addititon, there will be an investigation of the applicant's education and employment record and character, a physical agility test and a satisfactory medical examination.

Application forms may be picked up at any office of the CHP, the Department of Motor Vehicles, the State Personnel Board or the Department of Human Resources Development.

Committee Is Formed

At their final organizational meeting recently, the Civil Action Committee, Del Monte Heights voted to form the Project Area Committee, Del Monte Heights.

The body of the committee will be comprised of a minimum of three sub-committees --The Villia Del Monte, the Resident Owner's and Del Monte Manor.

The head or coordinating arm of the committee initally will be comprised of eleven representatives who will be selected by the membership of the various sub-committees based on the ratioz of the number of living units which they will be representing. Accordingly, it was decided that the sub-committees should select the following number of representatives to represent their respective group at the project area committee level: Villa Del Monte--two representatives; resident owners--six representatives and Del Monte Manor--three.

The primary purpose of these representatives will be to coordinate the activities of the sub-committees and to disseminate information pertaining to these activities, with a view toward stimulating public interest.

The initial meeting of the committee will be held this Sunday, December 19, at either the Seaside Youth Center or within the Villa Del Monte/Del Monte Manor complex. The tentative agenda for the meeting will be prepared by the committee and will be distributed to all residents of the area by Mrs. Maudie Haney.

Contract Is Awarded

A contract for improvement of a Route 101 overcrossing and bridge in and near Salinas has been awarded by James A. Moe, State Director of Public Works.

The $573,168.75 contract went to Freeman-Sondgroth Construction Co. of Mountain View, the firm that submitted the lowest of seven bids opened November 3 in Sacramento.

Work will consist of constructing interchange ramps at the Boronda Road overcrossing of the Route 101 Freeway and widening existing bridges across Little Bear Creek.

Project limits extend from a half-mile south to a half-mile north of the overcrossing. Freeway approaches to the ramps will also be widened. Completion of the job is scheduled within 90 working days.

Church Services

What is the source of all that is good in nature and man? This is a question to be considered at Christian Science churches this Sunday in a Bible Lesson-Sermon entitled "Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?"

Opening the commentary from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is this citation: "In the Saxon and twenty other tongues" good is the ter for God. The Scriptures declare all that He made to be good, like Himself,--good in Principle and in idea. Therefore the spirtual universe is good, and reflects God as He is."

Do you wish
Christmas
meant more to you?

There are some who think that the Christmas story no longer has any meaning.

But the coming of the Christ is not just an isolated event that took place 2,000 years ago. For many, the joy and the inspiration of the Christ spirit come daily to help and to heal.

If you would like to know what Christmas can really mean to you, you will find some very good answers in the Christian Science Reading Room.

There you may read about the birth and the life of Jesus in the Bible. And, there you may find a book that illumines his teachings and shows you how they can inspire and uplift you today. It is called "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

Won't you come in and spend a few minutes of quiet study and prayer?

Methodists Opposing Specifics

Members of the Black South Carolina Methodist Conference say they are not against merger with the white conference but are opposed to specifics of a plan for consolidation presented them.

The Black Conference overwhelmingly voted to reject the plan. The plan was approved by the white Methodists. The merger plan proposed would provide an eight year time perior during which both conferences would be guaranteed representation on commissions, boards and agencies of the church.

In the event no merger agreement can be reached, the situation would be turned over to the Methodist General Assembly when it meets in Atlanta in April.

Thanks Dad, and Merry Christmas.

We lived in an old gray house on a country road just outside a small midwestern town.

And every year on the Saturday before Christmas, my father would pile my sister, my two brothers and me into the cab of his pickup truck and drive us into town. We all had money saved and ready to spend on Christmas gifts. Dad would shop with us for a while, helping us pick out gifts for mother and advancing our allowances when our eyes got bigger than our budgets.

Then usually just before noon, he'd say he had some special shopping to do and that he'd better get to the bank before it closed.

When Christmas morning came, we'd gather round the tree and open our presents. And when we were finished unwrapping the trains, trucks, dolls and clothes; when Mom had thanked us each twice for the gifts we'd given her; and when we'd emptied our socks down to the last orange; my Dad would point to four small envelopes nestled in the tree. There was one for each of us. And every year for as far back as I can remember, each contained the results of his hurried trips to the bank on the Saturday before Christmas. A U. S. Savings Bond.

It's Christmas time at my house now. A house that's far away from that small midwestern town. A house that I could buy because I cashed in some old U. S Savings Bonds I had to help with the down-payment. A house where two little kids are going to find envelopes in the Christmas Tree this year. Envelopes that contain U. S. Savings Bonds.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Ecology Corps Expands Membership

California Ecology Corps membership has been expanded to include all young men who want to volunteer for the state's unique environmental protection program.

Corps Administrator Joe E. Griggs said he already has more than 50 inquires from young Californians who have expressed an interest in the corps.

Conscientious objectors to military service--as determined by local selective Service System draft boards --have been used to staff the corps since it was created last spring by Governor Reagan. Griggs said the program will also continue to utilize CO participants.

The volunteers, like their CO counterparts, will receive room, board and personal clothing care items and a $40 monthly pay allowance. Some employee benefits, including two weeks of vacation, are also included.

State Director of Conservation James G. Stearns, whose department manages the ecology corps for Governor Reagan, said it will be necessary to require a minimum period of service from the volunteers. Stearns will ask volunteers to agree to remain in the program at least six months. He said this is necessary because of the training effort necessary for new corpsmen.

The conscientious objectors in the program can remain for al long as 24 months. The Selective Service Act requires CO's to perform 24 months of civilian work in lieu of military service.

Corpsmen--both CO's and other volunteers will be assigned to four ecology centers in the state. The centers are in Calaveras, Humboldt, Inyo and Tehama counties.

ALL STARS - Bonnie Van Dam (left), Escondido, and David Smith, Bakersfield, members of 1971 McDonald's All-American High School Band, receive congratulations from NBC-TV Rose Parade hostess Betty White and band director Paul Lavalle. Van Dam and Smith will travel to Pasadena, where they will play in Tournament of Roses Parade to be telecast on NBC and CBS New Year's Day. The young musicians are among 101 top high school musicians from each state and District of Columbia who were selected for McDonald's Band.

PREP Is Unique

Monterey Peninsula College offers a unique opportunity to men in the military service to find out what they want from life and how to prepare to fulfill their hopes and aspirations.

The "Pre-Discharge Education Program," better known as PREP, helps men prepare for post-military life and helps them evaluate themselves more closely than they would without the prodding of the program, according to one of the instructors, David Schwartz.

PREP helps men prepare for college and it helps some decide that college may not be right for them.

According to Schwartz, at least one participant in the program decided that the Army was the right place for him and instead of getting out of the service, he reenlisted.

Many of the men in the program don't have much confidence in their own abilities, PREP instructors report and many have developed attitudes toward traditional education which hold them back from greater personal achievement. Courses offered in PREP help the men change their attitudes and prepare for further educational involvement, if that is what they decide they need and want.

"Our program is unique xecause the men share a large portion of the responsibility for the success or failure of the class," says another instructor, Fred Jealous. "We provide resources for them, but they must decide what they want to get out of the program during the 11 weeks they're here."

"Some college programs are entirely remedial with the so-called traditional approach that many of the men reject," he explains. "Some programs are held on military installations or in the evening. MPC is the only college I know of that has a program offering remedial help, but with an emphasis on motivating the men, which is held at a campus during normal duty hours."

Men interested in the program can find out more about PREP by calling MPC at 375-9821, extension 300, or the Ft. Ord Education Office, 242-5185.

THE PATH TO PARADISE

I hastened on my way to heaven's gate the light was waning and the hour was late, there came a pilgrim, panic in his eyes, for he had lost the path to paradise

I smiled in proud complacence at his plight and confidently journeyed throught he night. Then, faltered in incredulous surmise-- I too had lost the path to Paradise.

The passed another down the darkling road, His back was bent beneath a heavy load, yet were there gleams of glory in his guise, Since he had found the path to Paradise.

It was his brother's burden that he bore, fulfilling gladly love's eternal law the mists were scattered, and in glad surprise, I knew at last the path to Paradise.

Dear Father, grant that we may ever be thy selfless servants of humanity in thy compassion, heal the blinded eyes of fools who lose the path of Paradise.

Report on White House Conference on Aging

BY GRACE HENNINGTON

I had the honor of being selected as one of the delegates to The White House Conference on Aging helc in Washington D. C. It was indeed a pleasure and a memorable experience. Older Americans from Maine to California spoke out loud and clear on the desperate needs of the "Retirement Generation." The resolutions voted at the Conference presented a mandate to the Administration and the Congress to move into action.

This was largest conference ever held in Washington, D.C. as 3,400 delegates from grass roots America, in the few days alloted worked with enthusiasm to present an innovative and forward looking program to the Administration. The youngest delegate was a 17-year-old young man from Alaska, who came in behalf of the Aging Indian and the oldest a 95-year-old man from Utah.

The Conference was broken down into fourteen sections of interest and these in turn into 95-sub-sections. The main sections were: Education, Employment and Retirement, Physical and Mental Health, Housing, Income, Nurtition, Rerirement Roles and Activities, Spiritual Well-Being, Transportation, Programs and Services, Government and Non Government Organization, Planning, Research and Demonstration and Training. I was assigned to Retirement and Employment.

Each morning we met in our sub-section meetings, then we had lunch in the Crystal Ballroom of the Washington Hilton, where we were staying. Here all delegates at the luncheon were honored by speakers from the President's Cabinet or Senators from various states. We then returned to our subsection meetings for more studey and discussions. We again met as a body each night following dinner.

The California Senators and Congressmen invited all of the delegates from this state to a reception at the Rayburn Building Monday evening. We were presented with a colorful corsages of plastic oranges and orange blossoms with a gold colored ribbon streamer emblazoned with the word CALIFORNIA. These we wore proudly each day of the Conference.

The hightlight of the Conference was Thursday morning when President Nixon spoke to us. The Marine band played "Hail to the Chief" as the President and the lovely First Lady entered. Their entrance was met by a thunderous ovation from 3,600 delegates and visitors. The President voiced his concern for the problems of the Aging and expressed the opinion, which was also the concensus of the delegates, that income was the most important concern of the Older American; That with adequate income some of the other problems would be solved. He urged us to let our elected representatives know that we want action before another election. The President presented the Bill HR 1 to the Congress two years ago and it is still awaiting action by the congress.

It is now up to each and everyone of us to join in with the delegates and let our voices be heard.
